EVENTS OF INTEREST IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Bring Their Friends Together at a
Bal Masque.

Dinners and Other Hospitality.
Coming Affairs—Personal
Notes.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln G. Valentine brought together about 200 of their friends last night at what they styled their luminous bal masque, and at which their guests, while having a splendid time, also incidentally participated in the development of an allegory, unique in every way, its great success scoring the triumph of the year thus far in hospitality of the uncommon variety. It was held in the drawing room suite of the New Willard, the hostess receiving in the blue parlor, where she made a charming figure in the dress of a Guatemalan Indian maid. Both the short, full skirt and the upper garment, the wept, were of a richly embroidered fabric. A headpiece of embroidered silk had many tassels, and her necklaces were of beads, coins and amulets.

After her greeting the guests passed on to the next room, where Mrs. Ollie James, Mrs. John Wiley and Mrs. Herbert Dent distributed the souvenirs—for the women, open parasols, and for the men, balloons. A message from his Satanic majesty given each guest on entrance paved the way to their enjoyment of the evening. Their luminous parasols and balloons enabled them to "shine in the dark," and changed their fate to happiness on the borders of the fabled Styx. Moons and stars with fantastic faces and flowers were also luminous helps, and music on the marimba, cacha, a Guatemalan instrument, brought especially here to round out the perfect harmony of the event, was the accompaniment to the unusual picture to which each new arrival added interest. The players were also in costume. A cotillon was danced, at which the favors were also luminous, and included fans and flowers, skeletons and dolls, Guatemalan coins of 500 years ago and confetti.

Just before supper all masks were removed. Dancing was resumed later.

The Guest List.

The guests were the Postmaster General, Mrs. Burleson and the Misses Burleson, the assistant secretary of state and Mrs. Osborne, the minister of China and Miss Shah, the next President of Honduras, Dr. Membrillo, the minister of Uruguay, Mrs. de Pena and the Misses de Pena, the minister of Colombia, the minister of Bolivia and Miss Calderon, the minister of Guatemala, the minister of Costa Rica and Mrs. Brenes-Mosen, the minister of Honduras, the minister of Nicaragua, the charge d'affaires of Salvador, the special counselor and Mrs. Gary, the assistant secretary of the navy and Mrs. Franklin D.
